exemptions in such cases are generally allowed of to persons who are more than 45 years of age. He can afford to pass the examination in question. The point is that it cannot be the intention of Govt to grant exemption in the case of those persons who wish to have the benefit of the Govt by effluxion of time & without even making an attempt to appear for the examination. It would be open to their natives to pass the examination further, he has been in the Govt for a number of years and if he is transferred to the New Delhi, he will be at a disadvantage as he has not passed this examination & he would have to pass the new examination. Having regard to the above facts, it is for orders if the exemption recommended from this case may be granted, for purposes of earning increments with reference to GOI No 25-1-30 Ests-II. He is not confirmed in his temporary appointment (vide Term regarding Land Regd Clerk)
